

Indiana's no call law has worked very well for us and we would not appreciate anyone tampering with it. We have not recieved any telemarketing calls since signing up for it. We believe the federal government should let states govern themselves in matters like this.